

Ruby Mabry

KUOMagazine's Inspiring Authors Journalist

January 2020 - Present

Ruby Mabry was born in Brooklyn, New York. She is first generation Haitian American. She is the third of four children to Haitian parents Claude and Marie Bissainthe. Father was born in Port-au-Prince and mother was from Cap-Haitian. They relocated from Haiti to New York in 1964 to Brooklyn New York and later raised kids in upstate New York, Spring Valley. They left New York in 1974 to Orlando, Florida to raise their family. Her parents were always giving back to the community and such a vital part of the Haitian community. They raised all the kids to be servant leaders in the community.

There were amazing role models, which is shown by the lives and works of their four children. Ruby is the wife of Retired United States Army 1SGT Earl Mabry III and mother of two beautiful children.

She is the Chief Executive Officer of New Life Manor, Inc. I and II, which are facilities for the intellectually and developmentally disabled. Ruby is an International Best-Selling Author, Founder of Live on Purpose Movement Group, where she inspires women to live on purpose, collaborate and empower one another. The group meets up in the community quarterly for outings, networking and giving back to the community. Ruby is also a board member for Greater Haitian American Chamber of Commerce-Orlando, PR/Marketing and co-founder of ZoeFinity Haitian American apparel line.

Her passion is to uplift, empower and to inspire, women from all backgrounds to live their lives on purpose and to be that positive and inspirational force behind them. Ruby's mantra is dream, become, inspire. We all have wings. Use them to grow and fly.
