West Palm Beach (September 30, 2015) – Nothing’s better than improving business and personal relationships, and two new companies are here to prove it. The Ronnie Walker Results Group (RWRG) and the Better Lifestyle Business Development Group (BLBD) have launched in efforts to offer strategic intervention and leadership services to the community. The Ronnie Walker Results Group provides clients with various means to “find solutions to interpersonal conflicts, prevent violence, and achieve a more cohesive and civil community”. Trained and certified by Anthony Robbins and Cloé Madanes, Founders of the Robbins Madanes Center for Strategic Intervention, have years of combined experience that allow them to unite to form a field of strategic practice.

“The basic tenet is that individuals, relationships, organizations and community can be directed toward positive change through strategic planning of skillful interventions” state the founders. The RWRG provides personal and relationship development and coaching, business psychology, and business development to work towards the goal of enhancing a person’s self and surroundings to help them enhance their community. While the RWRG focuses on personal and interpersonal development, Better Lifestyle Business Development focuses on influencing lives to grow leadership skills on a personal and organizational level. Spearheaded by training from The John Maxwell Team, the BLBD uses various tools to provide clients guidance on 3 levels. They work on a personal level primarily through coaching, an organizational level through group training solutions, and even one-on-one sessions to help identify leadership styles. Along with the primary levels, there is also a personal mentoring group available to take teachings to the next stage.

The Ronnie Walker Results Group is open to the public and available for appointments by calling 888.280.4325 or 561.370.8713.
